What Is A Student Nurse?

"Student Nurses come in all sizes, shapes, and caps. A Student Nurse is courage under a cap, a smile in snowy white, ambition in a starched uniform, and energy that is endless.

To the head nurse she has the stability of musk, the fleetness of a snail, the mentality of a mule, and is held together by starch, adhesive tape, and strained nerves.

A Student Nurse is Faith with a hypo in her hand; Hope with a patched uniform; Love with her hair clipped short. She likes days off, boys her own age, the O.R. affiliation, certain doctors, pretty clothes, her roommate, Mom and Dad, and yes, her nursing school. She's not much on days off with class. She dislikes alarm clocks, getting up for roll call, and pink ham twice a week.

No one else looks forward so much to a day off, or so little to working 3 to 11. No one else gets so much pleasure from straightening a wrinkled sheet or wetting a pair of parched lips. No one else gets such satisfaction from fluffing a pillow, applying a bandage, or easing the pain of a patient.

A Student Nurse is a wonderful creature. You can criticize her, but cannot dishearten her. You can hurt her feelings but you cannot make her quit. Might as well admit it whether you are a head nurse, doctor, chaplain or patient, she is a hardworking determined young woman, doing her best for her patient, her school, her hospital, and her God. She may not be glamorous, intriguing, or sophisticated, but she is young at heart, and a shinning example of the American Way.

Whenever she becomes discouraged or the lamp gets too heavy, she should remember that there is a reward waiting for her. Because surely some of God's angels wear white caps instead of halos, and carry medicine trays instead of harps. And when hours are long; studies are hard; when fatigue and lonesomeness are on her threshold, she is reinspired by looking forward to the day when she can proudly say—"I'm a Nurse!"'

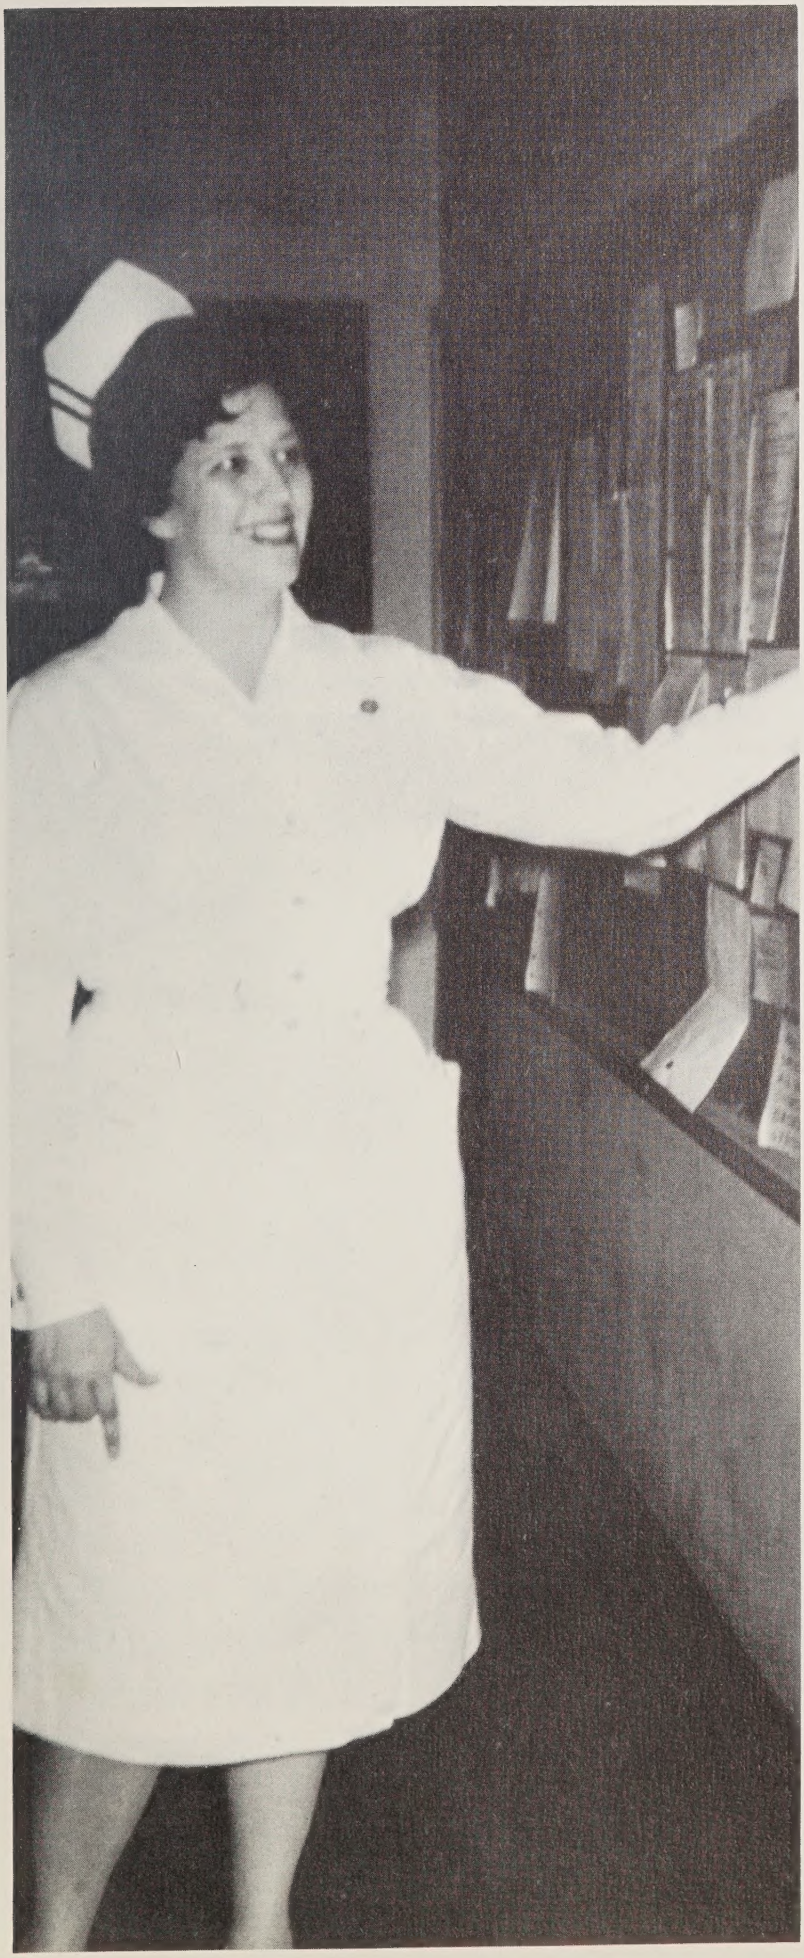
Dedicating the 1965 White Cap to

MRS. BESSIE PERRY BURGESS. Remembering your unfailing efforts in guidance and direction in maintaining the ideals of professional nursing during our three years at Watts, we the senior class dedicate the 1965 White Cap to you Mrs. Burgess.

You have given your best in helping establish and working with the Student Government Association, in guiding the Santa Filomena, and in maintaining the tradition of our Christmas caroling through the hospital, which has special meaning for each of us.

We will always remember with gratitude your understanding during the loss of our classmate.

For these things and your many efforts in directing our school, we thank you.



Honoring Mrs. Marie Robeson

"No man can tell whether he is rich or poor by turning to his ledger. It is the heart that makes a man rich. He is rich according to what he is, not according to what he has".

Henry Wald Beecher

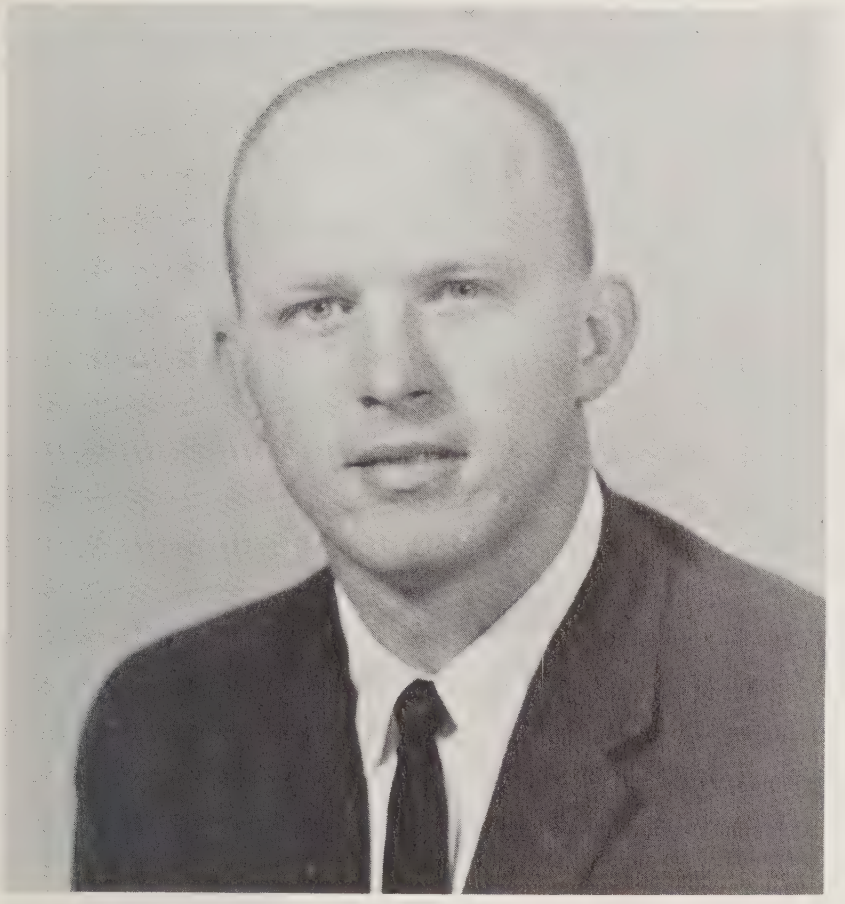
For your guidance and instruction, backed with sincere interest in us, not only as students, but as individuals, Mrs. Robeson, we will never forget you.

ADMINISTRATION

Director of Watts Hospital

MR. JOHN F. MOULTON

Mr. Moulton has been with the administration of Watts Hospital for eighteen years. He has conscientiously served as Director of Watts Hospital since the fall of 1962. Mr. Moulton is married and the father of four girls.



Assistant Director

MR. C.M. McCAULEY has served in the capacity of Assistant Director of Watts Hospital for the past two years. He attended the Medical College of Virginia and North Carolina State College.

Purchasing Agent

MR. ROBERT WEYNARD has occupied the position of Purchasing Agent at Watts Hospital for the past thirteen years. He attended the University of North Carolina and Texas A. and M.

Director of Nursing

MRS. BESSIE P. BURGESS

For thirty-three years Mrs. Burgess has faithfully served the Watts Hospital and the Watts Hospital School of Nursing. Having attended the Watts Hospital School of Nursing and Duke University, she competently contributed to the growth and development of the nursing field of Watts Hospital.

Former Associate Director of Nursing

MISS BARBARA OYLER, having served four years with both administration and education at Watts Hospital and Watts Hospital School of Nursing, resigned to assume a full-time teaching position at East Carolina College School of Nursing. She attended both Episcopal Hospital of Philadelphia and the University of North Carolina.

We Remember

On February 25, 1965, the day was rainy and cold. Wind whipped the white caps and starched uniforms of the solomn student nurses united in a common bond of grief as they stood in tribute by the graveside of their classmate and friend, Celia Potter. Her sudden death on February 23 while on affiliation for psychiatric training at Dorothea Dix Hospital in Raleigh was shocking to all who knew her.

What can words express? Surely not our sense of loss, surely not an image of "Pottie", yet we use this page to say that our memories of her are with us to stay. Who can forget her contagious enthusiasm, her warm personality, her boundless energy, her genuine love of living, and her sincere interest in people.

Last Will and Testament

We, being of sound mind and body do hereby publish and declare this to be our Last Will and Testament in the following manner:

First, we the Senior Class, leave:
To the Administration, all our check stubs for working extra.
To our Director of Nursing, Mrs. Burgess, our appreciation for her interest and friendship to our class.
To our Instructors, gratitude for the knowledge they shared with us.
To the Juniors, our position as Seniors.
To the Freshmen, a dream to fullfill.
To the Housemothers, our thanks for being a second Mother, and quietness for a short while.

Second, individually:
I, Donna Allison, leave my gracefulness to Janice Craun.
I, Gay Anne Best, leave all my nights out to Judy Hollis, who surely can use them.
I, Betty Boswell, leave my interest in C.S.U. to Sylvia Scarlette.
I, Ginny Brown, leave my ability to stay up at night to Angie Carey.
I, Katherine Cherry, leave my mournful nights ... to be with Ken.
I, "P" Clapp, leave my domestic abilities to Jean Wrenn.
I, Betsy Clayton, leave my ability to change hair colors and off duty to Becky Gentry.
I, Paula Clayton, leave my long legs to Lucy Newton.
I, Marian Clayton, leave basketball, Watts, and my red car light, to get a "Ginger" of my own.
I, Barbara Coble, leave my ability to be discreet with my indiscretions to Terri Manz.
I, Gail Cornell, leave my ABILITIES to Sandra Maurice.
I, Carolyn Craver, leave my ability to be sweet and agreeable to Anne Wood.
I, Linda Davis, leave my ability to be efficient (vital signs) to Brenda Green.
I, Mary Dunn, leave my blush to Stephanie Matthews.
I, Mary Bess Elliott, leave my ability to find out the latest news to Elaine Shore.
I, Julia Falconer, leave my ability to make anything into a joke to Jean Gaskill.
I, Betty Jean Faulkner, leave my love for Watts ... in silence.
I, Kitty Fisher, leave my big mouth for Charlies sake.
I, Brenda Flye, leave behind my ability to get along with instructors to Jean Gaskill—and go to India.
I, Judy Gesell, leave what's up front to ... Suzanne Stafford.
I, Dot Gilbert, leave those "darn" D.R. laundry bags to the girls on call.
I, Penny Gresham, leave my ability to pierce ears and build book cases to Georganne Munroe.
I, Diane Hoyng, leave my dead squirrel to Miss Sherron.
I, Suzanne Kearse, leave my love for music to anyone with such a talent.
I, Jin Kent, leave this densely populated area to go to the "Hills" where I can sneeze in peace.
I, Sheila Lester, leave my ability to wear contacts in the wrong eyes to Anna Edgerton.
I, Bobbie Lynn, leave my "thick" hair to anyone who likes different hair do's.
I, Barbara McLelland, leave my ability to get to class ... at all!
I, Jean McNeal, leave my first pay check to the Pepsi Cola Company.
I, Sara Madren, leave my ability to "please" Dr. Stanford to the entire Junior Class. It will take all of You!
I, Fern Morrow, leave my love for reading to anyone who can find time to use it.
I, B.J. O'Neal, leave my love for music and gospel songs to anyone who enjoys them.
I, June Parker, leave my ability to throw 1:00 A.M. birthday parties to all the girls in Staff House.
I, Jackie Parker, leave all my nurses shoes to ... find some I really like.
I, Annette Piner, leave my ability to walk to Wilmington to anyone who's car gives out on the (Lizzie).
I, Carolyn Purser, leave my perfectionism to the Watts School of Nursing.
We, Becky Reid and Betsy Clayton, leave our ability to do the most with the least said to Joyce Powell.
I, Betty Sorrell, leave the keys to my closet to the housemother for safe keeping.
I, Barbara Taylor, leave my ability to dance the Stripper to all those who enjoy Fraternity parties.
I, Sandra Thompson, leave my love for Ward G to all the incoming Freshmen, who have to face it one day!
I, Gail Thornton, leave my ability to fix last minute hair do's to go into my real profession.
I, Becky Tucker, leave working extra on "off days" with my hope chest full.
I, Jean Vance, leave my ability to get home every week to Sandra Maurice who should try it sometime.
I, Linda Wallace, leave my ability to "get along" with the opposite sex—only to get along more.
I, Jane Weisner, leave my ability to learn to all the incoming Freshmen.
I, Beth Yelverton, leave my ability to "get sick"—to all those who splurge.

History

Fifty-three green, anxious freshman approached the front door of Hill House on September 9, 1962. In the living room we were met by our big sisters and by those "money mad" seniors who were selling everything from sweatshirts to pencils.

It seems that we were broken in quickly to the routine, for class began that first week. We were naive enough to believe that studying would lessen as we were here longer, but it seems that time is yet to come!

That first day on the wards really left us "bushed"—only two hours to do a P.M. care and chart. What do you do if your patient refuses his backrub and doesn't want to talk? Later we practiced giving injections to a sponge and then flu shots to our roommates. "Oh, my arm! I'll never be able to move it again!" Remember staying awake half the night because you had to get up at 4:30 A.M. to prep your first patient?

Not all of our freshman year was spent increasing our knowledge of medical terms. The big problem was making money—seems that's the problem all three years. Car washes, selling candy, bake sales, along with a turkey raffle helped raise money. Seems too, that turkey was won by one of our classmates.

Dorm life was great that first year. Things to remember—Miss Sherron's famous last words, "O.K. girls, cut those lights out or I'm going to report you to Mrs. Burgess!" Also, watching "As the World Turns" with Izzie at Staff House. Screens which always seemed to fall out of Wyche House windows at 2:00 A.M. Those late, late birthday parties. Then came capping and responsibilities seemed to come from all sides.

Our junior year consisted of special services, and more money making projects. Moving to Hill House was really a task ... heard over and over, "never knew I had so much junk, where am I going to put it?" First scrubs in O.B. and O.R.—being called in the wee hours of the morning, continual night and evening duty, the "junior slump"—which seems to still be hanging around, and the Tuesday night "Fugitive Fanclub".

After two long hard years we finally became seniors. The Hill will be one of our main memories for here we "found Ourselves", studied like mad, wrote diaries until we hated the word, tried to keep up with our keys, learned how to play cards, and had no trouble getting dates. Also, at this time we were greatly sorrowed by the loss of one of our classmates.

As spring progressed, remember the ear piercing fad that seemed to rage through our class? The White Cap Dance was especially exciting to us this year because our candidate, Mary Dunn, was crowned Miss White Cap of 1965. It has taken three years, but we finally succeeded. As graduation grows closer, we begin thinking of where we plan to work, state boards, and the future in general. Thinking back we are reminded of the fifty-three frightened girls who now number forty-six young women, who are ready to face the unknown with confidence and capability.

Miss Florence Nightingale

"Lo! in that house of misery
A lady with a lamp I see
Pass through the glimmering gloom,
And flit from room to room."
—Longfellow

Julia Falconer was selected to serve as our Senior Class President, and thus portrayed Miss Nightingale at our annual Christmas caroling and the Freshman capping ceremony.

Santa Filomena

Santa Filomena was formed at Duke University in 1943 and grew out of a need for some means of recognizing achievement of nursing students. It is now a national senior honorary society recognizing initiative as a leader, outstanding nursing care, and achievement for a higher scholastic standard. Its members are tapped each year during a candlelight service, and they may be recognized by the minature gold Florence Nightingale Lamp which they wear.

Lois Cox Award

MRS. RUBY PIERCE, we the Class of 1965, present to you the Lois Cox Award. Through your teaching as well as through your inspiring example of the kind of nurse we would like to become—we have oft-times been encouraged to strive for a goal just a little higher. Your patience—though often tested, your thoughtfulness—sometimes unnoticed, and your heartfelt interest—sometimes seemingly unappreciated, all combine to form our recipient of the Lois Cox Award.

This award is given by the Senior Class to the instructor whom they feel has contributed the most to their professional and personal growth.

The Lois Cox Award was established by Mrs. Edith Brocker, Associate Dean, Duke University School of Nursing in loving memory of her housemate, Miss Lois Cox; and in appreciation for what Watts Hospital did for Miss Cox during her illness.

We, the class of 1965, shall long remember you with appreciation and pride as Ruby Pierce, R.N., our choice for the Lois Cox Award.

Annie

A plaster figurehead that was won by a senior student at Watts in 1943 has become a tradition at Watts. Having no roommate, she presented it to the most deserving and closest roommates of the senior class. Now chipped and worn, she is cherished as a symbol of friendship to all roommates receiving her. This year Annie was presented as a third roommate to Penny Gresham and Julie Falconer. Through "thick and thin" the "three" have stayed together.

Capping

After having completed nine months of introductory nursing courses, the first year Watts students receive their caps. The inspiration of the ceremony lingers long, as a reminder of the solemn pledge to serve humanity.

Black Banding

At last the time comes for the Juniors to receive their black bands and to become Seniors. It is a proud moment, bringing the past two years into focus and directing them into their final year.

Active Minds , Active Bodies

This year proved quite victorious for the Freshman Class basketball team—having completed the entire season without defeat to obtain the city league championship. The following girls made this possible: Lee, N. Cross, Thomas, Allen, B. Gross, Johnson, Wagoner, Cannady, Dew, Haithcock, Lopez, Moye, Parker, Shaw.

The varsity team was almost as victorious as the Freshman, losing only one game. Girls who made this possible were as follows: P. Clayton, M. Clayton, Gesell, Craver, Thorton, Edgerton, Cary, Manley, Newton, and Gaskill.

I hereby declare ...
